

i like you
contract for consignment

Please read our consignment information first. If you have followed those steps and have received word from either Angela or Sarah to bring in your work, please print and fill out this form and bring it in with your work.

Helpful hints for those of you who are new to selling your work.

1. Take the time to figure out a suggested retail price, and a wholesale price. The wholesale price should be 50% of the retail price.

Try to keep pricing uniform whether it be at other stores or craft shows. We have found that your sales will remain consistently higher if you stay constant in your pricing.

2. Supply the retail location with a floor model. This does not apply to everyone. However it is better that customers have one example to touch, rather than touching them all. The general public has very little respect for items they have not purchased.

3. Submit an inventory and pricelist with your work. i like you hand picks all work, if some of the work you bring in is not right for us at the time we will simply cross it off of your inventory list. We will do this with you present, and both parties will sign your inventory sheet noting changes.

AGREEMENT-

1. i like you agrees to sell on consignment, the items listed on the Inventory sheet supplied by the undersigned artist. Additional sheets may be incorporated into this agreement if signed by both parties.

2. The artists work will remain on consignment with i like you for a minimum of 30 days. At the end of 30 days i like you reserves the right to either a) keep the artist's unsold merchandise on consignment for an additional 30 days or b) return any unsold merchandise to the artist.

3. i like you reserves the right to remove work for whatever reason they may choose. i like you will give 2 weeks notice to artist, discussing the removal of artwork and possible price reduction. The artist may remove artwork with 2 weeks notice to i like you at any time. Artists may not remove work for the purpose of working an outside event with the intent of returning items to the store. (We will no longer pull inventory for craft shows)

4. Payment will be made available to the artist the beginning of each month. i like you does not mail checks if you live in the metro area. We welcome the opportunity to see you, and appreciate your involvement. You will receive a list of what sold during the month along with your payment. Please replace inventory no later than when you pick up your next check. If payment to the artist amounts to less than $20.00, payment will automatically roll over to the next months pay cycle.

5. Inventory updates will be made upon artists request.

6. i like you will do it's best to promote, display and sell your work. You as the artist agree to keep i like you supplied with artwork.

7. i like you agrees to pay the consignor 50% of the wholesale price listed on the inventory sheet in the event an item is stolen or damaged. In other words if an item is stolen or damaged we'll split your cost with you.

8. i like you is responsible for all MN state sales tax on the behalf of the artist for work sold at i like you.

9. You as an artist will receive a 1099 form at the end of the year. It is your responsibility to file your income taxes.

10. i like you will not provide insurance for any artwork regardless of price or nature of work. Insurance is the sole responsibility of the artist.

11. Packing and shipping charges, packaging supplies, mailing insurance costs and other handling expenses incurred in the delivery of artwork:

a) From the artist to i like you is the sole responsibility of the artist.

b) From i like you to artist is the responsibility of i like you, unless the artist requests work back before agreed time.

12. i like you reserves the right to make modifications to the retail price based on market demand and other factors. We will do our best to discuss these changes with you.

We are proud to have your work accompany and compliment the works of so many fantastic local and independent artists we love. i like you is growing and changing everyday and we are excited that you've chosen to join us.
